

MUTT MELANCHOLY

Terry Lucas

An abandon and starving mutt is in search for food. He wanders from house to house hoping that someone can provide food or shelter. With a bowl in his mouth, he travels from one house to another seeking for sympathy and food. Though, most of the time, his effort will end up in despair. However, he will not give up and continue his search for food in order to survive in this arduous world.

Mutt Melancholy is a series of photos that is very dear to me. I see it as a reflection of our own lives as we seek for something important but we may unable to achieve it due to various reasons. Nevertheless, we still continue to pursue it with a hope, one day we can attain what we seek for.

